Adopting social-collaborative tools can increase productivity, enable problem solving and speed up decision making - Cisco Study

WHY THIS IS IMPORTANT

A recent survey showed that 87% of your competitors identified enabling their ecosystem of employees, partners and customers in a web of collaborative and social technologies is a priority going forward.

Deploying internal facing, collaborative systems when up to 50% of employees don't work in the same space is critical. It's low risk, easily done, and has a compelling ROI.

The risks to success have been minimized because this is no longer a frontier that hasn't been traveled.

Employee collaboration is becoming mainstream in corporate America and ROI's are optimized for quick payback.
